LIFE AND HER CHILDREN:

Glimpses of Animal Life from the Amoeba to the Insects.

ARABELLA B. BUCKLEY,

Authoress of "The Fairyland of Science," "A Short History of Natural Science," "Botanical Tables for the Use of Junior Students."

Crown 8vo, with upwards of 100 Illustrations, cloth gilt, gilt edges, 6s.

EXTRACT FROM PREFACE.

"The main object is to acquaint young people with the structure and habits of the lower forms of life, and to do this in a more systematic way than is usual in ordinary works on natural history, and more simply than in text-books on zoology. For this reason I have adopted the title, 'Life and her Children,' to express the family bond uniting all living things, as we use the term 'Nature and her Works' to embrace all organic and inorganic phenomena; and I have been more careful to sketch in bold outline the leading features of each division than to dwell on the minor differences by which it is separated into groups. I have made use of British examples in illustration wherever it was possible, and small specimens of most of the marine animals figured may be found upon our coasts at low tide."

PRIMER of FRENCH LITERATURE.

By GEORGE SAINT-BURY. Extra fcap. 8vo, cloth, 2s.
"This is a book which is not only indispensable to the beginner in French literature, but most useful to the reader who has wandered at his will, picking and choosing at random in the garden which Mr. Saintsbury has made completely his own. So much recent writing on French literature has been so scandalously inaccurate, flippant, and dull, that Mr. Saintsbury and the Clarendon Press confer a really rare benefit on the public in this little introduction to a wide subject."—Daily News.

"Great simplicity of language and a liberal supply of woodcuts bring all the subjects discussed within the reach of those readers who are altogether without special knowledge; while the mastery displayed over all the applications of physical and physiological laws of hygiene entitles the book to a standard place in technical literature."—Academy.

"To his task Mr. Hoogkin has brought scholarly precision and workmanlike skill. But he has done more than this. He has brought also keen interest and power of realisation of the events with which he deals. His book is one of a class which only an Englishman can write. It bears on every page the mark of being written by a man who is not only a scholar, but is also conversant with affairs. Everything in it is vital with the life of our own day; occurrences are paralleled and characters illustrated from modern politics."—Times.

STUDIES in PHYSICAL SCIENCE.

The Sun; Transit of Venus; Spectrum Analysis; the Moon; the Stars and Planets; Comets and Meteors; Atmospheric Electricity; Whirlwinds; Glaciers; the Telephone. By W. J. MILLAR, C.E., Secretary to the Institution of Engineers and Shipbuilders in Scotland; Author of "Principles of Mechanics," &c.

"We can confidently recommend Mr. Millar's volume to the attention both of teachers in search of an elementary text-book, and to private students, as well as to the general reader. It unites the utmost lucidity with strict scientific accuracy, and deals with ascertained facts rather than with vague theories."—Greenock Daily Telegraph."This work consists of chapters from several sciences—astronomy, electricity, heat, light, &c. They cover a good deal of ground, and include objects as wide apart as whirlwinds and spectrum analysis, glaciers and the telephone."—Liverpool Advertiser.

Fcap. 8vo, 128 pp., price 1s. 6d.

A MEDLEY of NOTABLES: What they said and What others said of them. By G. F. S."This little book contains on one side of each page a quotation from some well-known author, and on the other side a brief notice of this author by other authors. If we turn to Shakespeare, for instance, we find quoted Dame Quickly's description of Falstaff's death, while there are given notices of Shakespeare by Keats, Ben Jonson, Browning, Barnetford, and by some anonymous writer who likely enough is the editor. From him we learn that 'Shakespeare went before all men, and stands in the array of human intellect like the sun in the system, single and unapproached.'"—Saturday Review.
